

Bryan College Return for a Healthy Spring Plan

As students return January 11, the steps stated below are being put into motion to support a healthy spring:

- Residence Assistances will check student temperatures upon arrival on campus.
- Residence Assistances will ask students to complete a health questionnaire upon arrival on campus.
- Students have been requested to self-quarantine near or at their homes from post-Christmas, December 28 until the start of the semester, similarly to the fall start up.
- Food service options will be limited to cafeteria service only (no Common Grounds or Prideland Grill) for the first 14 days of the semester.
- Cafeteria and Prideland Grill seating have been adjusted by assigning a designated seating limit at each table or group of tables. These seating limits are to be strictly observed at all times.
- Grouped tables have been secured together and are not to be moved by diners. This also means chairs.
- Cafeteria seating is limited to student diners only until further notice. Faculty and staff may only get to-go meals at this time.
- Booth seating has been removed from the cafeteria, Rhea County Room and Prideland Grill
- Mask wearing in public areas of all campus buildings is now required.
- In-person meetings are required to be conducted in a physically distanced manner, with participants maintaining at least 6 ft of separation and wearing masks when not teaching or presenting to those in attendance.
- In-person gatherings involving singing are required to be held outdoors or conducted indoors in a physically distanced manner, with participants maintaining at least 15 ft of separation while singing.
- Spectator attendance at indoor sporting events are not available at this time.
- Outdoor heaters have been purchased and installed under the tents to provide an outdoor community gathering space.
- No in-person community chapels during the first two weeks of the semester.
