

BRYAN COLLEGE MUSIC REPERTOIRE CLASS: Spring 2019

MUSIC REPERTOIRE CLASS is an important and integral part of studying music. It provides the opportunity for performance and listening experiences in a "friendly" environment. It exposes the student to music literature that he or she might not otherwise be able to study. It also provides a forum for lectures, demonstrations, discussions and participation in areas of additional interest to music students.

Because repertoire is an important part of music lessons, ALL STUDENTS who are taking music lessons are REQUIRED to attend repertoire sessions as listed on the schedule below. Any conflict such as work or class must have WRITTEN PERMISSION from Dr. Keck. Cuts apply to repertoire class: therefore, you may miss ONE regularly scheduled repertoire class per semester without penalty. Lesson grades will be lowered 1/3 of a letter grade for each overcut. Attendance will be taken so PLEASE BE PRESENT. Dress: Items listed in bold require Performance Dress (see definition below). Performers and Accompanists should always wear Performance Dress. Unless otherwise listed, all events will be in Rudd Auditorium. Everyone should sit in the front half of the middle section. Programs begin at 4:00p unless otherwise noted.
